Pajhwadi Rajput Pashtmoth Marathi Book Pdf Till the end of its first chapter, Maha-sama, says that the purpose of the book is to "educate all who can". He gives these guidelines: "You may not preach any religion or creed, if you preach only that which is beneficial to others." Maha-sama is quoted as stating that we must practice Dharma to find ourselves again in harmony with our true nature. "This will bring us back to the source of all goodness. It also brings us back to the point where we are not born yet to find wisdom, where we are not living as we are now. We must learn to live as we are born." (P.V. 6.23 – 1.1.9). It seems that the primary role of Maha-sama in the book had to do with what it actually teaches. "We must practice Dharma to find ourselves again in harmony with our true nature, to turn towards our true nature and learn to love unconditionally, to live as we are born to become one and not to dwell and destroy each other" (P.V. 6.23 – 1.1.9). It's unclear how much Maha-sama is able to teach people in the context of traditional religion, so many books could be missing. Still, it seems that these were instructions on why we should practice Dharma and what we should do, without giving instructions what "true nature" meant in its traditional form, or what the term "goodness" in the context of conventional religion meant. Maha-sama could not possibly have taught them, so no explanation needs to be given. Instead, Maha-sama is more than just an instruction on how to practice, it is a very specific book. This book needs to know what it will actually be teaching. If, for example, it tells its readers that Mahasama says that "if a teacher wishes to change Dharma, he should only give you the correct Dharma that you have learnt from this book"; it could be just a small, technical instruction, not necessary. If, on the other hand, it provides a clear, easy-to-understand explanation of what Maha-sama says and how to practice it, as well as a detailed explanation on how to learn to understand the meaning contained in it, then Maha-sama ought to be taught in schools, which could then have teachers teaching them, and then students getting good at understanding Dharma, not just | 1 minute read English | Marathi Book Pdf | ...
